Workshop examines bilingual careers “in the global village”

(Oct. 20, 2005 – Boca Raton) The Career Center at Palm Beach Community College in Boca Raton will focus on careers in international and intercultural fields at a Nov. 8 workshop, “Careers in the Global Village: The Advantage of Being Bilingual.” The public is welcome to attend at no cost.

A six-member panel of professionals from the community will discuss career opportunities where bilingual skills are essential:

- Maria M. Gross, manager of tourism marketing for Latin America, Palm Beach Convention and Visitors Bureau
- Linda Kahill, Esq., immigration attorney at the Guatemalan-Maya Center, Inc.
- Jamil Marc, family support worker, Haitian American Community Council
- Mike Rodriguez, vice president and general manager of Telemundo (WSCV, Channel 51)
- Myrtha Senat, secretary, International Student and Scholar Services at Florida Atlantic University
- Sonia William, director, Global Translations and Interpretations

The Career Center workshop is part of an ongoing series open to students and the public. It will be held in Classroom Building A, Room 101, from 12:30-1:45 p.m. Call Tracy Joinson at (561) 862-4325 for more information. PBCC at Boca Raton is located at 3000 St. Lucie Ave. on the northwest corner of Florida Atlantic University's campus.
