PBCC Car Show Promises Beautiful Cars and Great Career Opportunities

(Lake Worth – February 28, 2007) Palm Beach Community College presents “Tricked-Out Cars and Hooked-Up Careers,” an annual car show and career exposition, March 24, 2007 from 3:00 p.m. – 7:00 p.m. at PBCC at Lake Worth, on the corner of Lake Worth Road and Congress Avenue.

This event is an excellent opportunity to either display an automotive masterpiece or simply drool over these mobile beauties, from the antique to the newest crazes. There will also be plenty of opportunities to explore high-tech, high-wage careers that not only teach students how to build their own “tricked-out ride” but also give them the earning potential to make it happen.

Entries and admission to the show are free. Prizes will be awarded in various categories, including separate student categories, and there will be a People’s Choice Award for best sound system. There will be live entertainment hosted by DJ Justice featuring C-N-S Records’ Booby Booshay and Advantage, D.E.C. Entertainment’s Charlie P and Neww Kidd as well as Surplus and Nutty Jutt.

Also featured will be tours of PBCC’s state-of-the-art shops and laboratories as well as automotive and career demonstrations. The College offers programs in everything from automotive service technology, auto body repair, diesel technology, welding and machine technology to nursing, cosmetology and dental assisting, just to name a few. Degree and certificate programs at the college are taught by skilled instructors with many years of experience in their area of expertise. Programs range in completion time from three months to two years for full time students.

For more information about entering or attending the show or starting a high-wage career, please call Luis Tamayo at 561-868-3542. For more information about programs offered at the College, visit on line at www.pbcc.edu/programs.
