Palm Beach Community College employees, students to paint two Riviera Beach homes Saturday

One home belongs to a former Palm Beach County firefighter injured in the line of duty last year

- WHAT: Dozens of Palm Beach Community College employees and students, including President Dennis Gallon, will paint the homes of two Riviera Beach residents as part of Paint Your Heart Out. The homes, which are back-to-back, belong to Dineen Hillard, a single parent on a limited income, and Toby Bivins, a former Palm Beach County firefighter who was injured in the line of duty last year and is disabled.
- WHEN: 9 a.m. until about noon Saturday, April 26. The best photo opportunities will be at 10 a.m.
- WHERE: Home of Dineen Hillard, 36 W. 37th St., Riviera Beach
Home of Toby and Laura Bivins, 41 Silver Spring Road, Riviera Beach
- WHY: The PBCC chapter of the Florida Association of Community Colleges (FACC), the professional organization for community college employees, decided in 1999 to make Paint Your Heart Out one of its community projects. The organization invites students to help with the painting. In the past, FACC has painted the homes in October as part of National Make a Difference Day, but it switched the event to the spring to avoid hurricane season. This year the project coincides with Rebuilding Together, another volunteer organization associated with the Solid Waste Authority. Since 1999, the FACC chapter has painted 16 homes.
