

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

PBCC to host 2nd annual Green Expo at Lake Worth

(Lake Worth, Fla. – Aug. 31, 2009) Palm Beach Community College's Green Institute will hold the second annual Green Expo on Saturday, Oct. 3 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Education and Training Center on the Lake Worth campus.

The Green Expo brings together exhibitors promoting environmentally friendly products, services, technologies, education and practices. Attendees can go to workshops on a variety of sustainability and green living topics, increase awareness of greenhouse emissions and climate change and learn how to help contribute to a healthy planet.

The event is co-sponsored by Florida Public Utilities and the City of Lake Worth. Exhibitors include South Florida Water Management District, the City of West Palm Beach, Radio Green Earth, FPL BuildSmart and many others. Exhibits will include presentations on water and energy conservation, demonstrations on buying and building green, and hands-on workshops, such as sessions on making and using a rain barrel.

Exhibition space is still available, and exhibitors can register online at www.pbcc.edu/GreenExpo.xml.

The event is free and open to the public. Visit www.pbcc.edu/GreenExpo.xml or call 561-868-3702 for details.
