

Center for Lifetime Learning fall classes begin Oct. 18

(Lake Worth, Fla. – Sept. 23, 2010) The Center for Lifetime Learning (CLL), a nonprofit continuing education institution for senior citizens, is celebrating its 36th year in operation at Palm Beach State College.

The CLL provides college-level courses on a non-credit basis at the Lake Worth campus. The curriculum offers informative and thought provoking courses in multiple areas, including social science, economics, art, literature, health, film, and more. It also provides some special events. Everyone is welcome regardless of age or educational background.

More than 25 classes are being offered for the fall term beginning Oct. 18, ranging in length from one day to six weeks. All of the courses, including those that will be offered in the spring semester through March 31, 2011, are available for one modest fee. Classes run from 12:30-3:15 p.m.

For a CLL catalog and for more information, call (561) 868-3194 or visit www.palmbeachstate.edu/LifetimeLearning.xml.

Serving more than 52,000 students annually, Palm Beach State College is the largest institution of higher education in Palm Beach County, providing the bachelor's degree, associate degrees, professional certificates, career training and lifelong learning. Established in 1933 as Florida's first public community college, it offers more than 100 programs of study at locations in Lake Worth, Boca Raton, Palm Beach Gardens and Belle Glade.
