PERSONAL ENRICHMENT COURSES TEACH, INSPIRE AND MOTIVATE

(January 14, 2003 – Boca Raton, FL) There's no better time than right now in South Florida to explore the variety of snowbirds and permanent residents, so for the first time ever, Palm Beach Community College's Learning Unlimited is offering a "Let's Go Birding" course on Thursday mornings.

The personal enrichment program at PBCC in Boca Raton, Learning Unlimited has new classes for the session that begins the week of January 27. The five-week classes are just $35.

Other new courses include a Spanish course for travelers that emphasizes the practical use of the language, namely asking questions and getting answers. There's a Feng Shui course entitled "Decorate Your Home Happy" and a self-help course taught by local authors Anna Losito and Helaine Lori Rayman, "Perception, Passion & Power – How to Get What You Want." Designed to motivate and inspire participants to uncover their "purpose and passion," the course is based on the instructors' book, "Nothing is Wrong and Something is Missing."

Learning Unlimited serves working professionals by offering evening classes as well. Licensed therapist and parent educator Susan Pomeranz will teach "Doing What Comes Naturally: A Parent Education Class" from Jan. 29 to Feb. 26 on Wednesday night. There's also a financial management workshop, a class on collecting fine art and the "Perception, Passion and Power" class.

Learning Unlimited also offers classes in history and current events, art, health, self-improvement, music, the ancient healing art called Reiki and a course in basic astrology. Teacher Nadine Gross will give a free lecture, "Space Alignment with Earth Energy," to introduce the astrology and Feng Shui courses on Jan. 22 at 7 p.m. in Classroom A building, Room 101.

To find out more, contact Jacquelyn Keeley at (561) 862-4725. Learning Unlimited is located at PBCC in Boca Raton, 3000 St. Lucie Ave., on the northeast section of the campus of Florida Atlantic University.
