Course Description:
This two-day course provides 16 hours of interactive instruction for law enforcement officers who already possess a background knowledge and functional experience in search and seizure law. The instruction is advanced and fast-paced and uses case studies to explain the development and the status of the legal aspects of searches and seizures.

Instructor Bio:
Bruce-Alan Barnard, JD, LLM: is a nationally-renown law enforcement educator who has trained over 30,000 local, state, and federal law enforcement officers over the last two decades. Bruce is a subject-matter expert in the legal aspects of law enforcement including: search and seizure law, the legal aspects of interrogations and interviews, officer liability, the legal aspects of the use of force, and electronic surveillance law. As a Senior Instructor in the Legal Division at the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center (FLETC), Bruce was the DHS FLETC subject matter expert in Search and Seizure Law and Electronic Surveillance Law. At FLETC, Bruce was consistently rated as one of the top instructors earning “top performer” accolades and consistently praised by students. Prior to assuming instructor duties at FLETC, Bruce was a federal prosecutor (Special Assistant United States Attorney) and served as a JAG in the US Air Force (retiring in the rank of Major). Prior to serving in the Air Force, Bruce served for nearly a decade on various Fast-Attack submarines in the Pacific and Atlantic fleets conducting covert electronic
